

Hello Human

BY SASHA RADLOV

MADE IN COLLABORATION WITH LIA SCHÄDLER

We have been spending a lot of time with insects recently, watching spiders climbing into the cracks of walls, ants crawling around on glass, caterpillars building homes in trees and flies overcoming the struggle of flying with wet wings.

We have been observing, being with, singing to, singing about and working with these creatures to find out what stories they have to share, as well as how we become a part of their stories. This research lead us to creating two audio experiences.

What we are sharing with you today is Sasha`s story.

Lia`s story is coming soon....

First, a few requests before you experience Sasha`s story:

Listen with earphones.

Listen somewhere dark and quiet: a self-made den, an attic, a closed café, an abandoned shopping center, an empty street at night or a room with the curtains closed.

Listen alone.

LISTEN HERE